

Custodians of Planet Earth

Today we are going to be beginning a new Learning Project called Custodians of Planet Earth. In this project we will be learning about looking after the planet and about something called biodiversity. Today I would like you to explain to me what you do at home and in your daily lives to help look after our planet. Explain why you do each thing and why it is good for the planet. Also describe to me some of the things you do which you think you would like to change in some way to look after our planet a little better. Feel free to include pictures to illustrate your writing and the points you make.

I am going to use this piece of work to assess your understanding of this important topic. Good luck!
